

Introduction Letter

Dear All,

CareRinger looks forward to partnering with your organization. Our goal is to support independent living for the disabled and elderly, not just for some but for all of them.

CareRinger supports these communities where feelings of comfort and peace of mind makes a difference in a person's quality of life. As people live longer, many of them may experience one or more disabilities as they age. Assistive technologies like CareRinger enable elderly people and the disabled to connect with those who care for them when they need help. Whether someone chooses to live an independent lifestyle or is going through a transitional period recovering from a new disability, CareRinger reduces their anxiety and dependence.

CareRinger supports equal access by providing this assistive technology option to everyone, including those who can afford the service and the underserved. "Reassurance for all" is our mission.

A simple response to a check-in call is all it takes to provide relief to everyone involved, thanks to our universal phone service. We also encourage seniors and people with disability to experience our proprietary check-in options, taking advantage of innovative technologies. These alternatives strive to leave no one behind.

Please note that CareRinger will not call anyone without their consent, and would stop when asked to. We have privacy statements and service sign-up forms jointly developed with our legal counsel, thanks to their service in support of CareRinger's mission. As such, CareRinger is committed to the highest standard when it comes to protecting our users' rights to privacy.

Please take a moment to visit our website www.careringer.com and complete the sign-up forms to get started. We look forward to further discussion with you and members of your organization. Thank you.

Yours Sincerely,
Henry Chan
